Canyon Gets Ready For Annual Roundup

THESE YOUNG LADIES are from left Linda Allen and Ann Hardaway. They are shown ready for contests in the young people's play day here last Sunday.

Canyon is all atwitter this week over the prospects of entertaining several thousand people at the second annual Randall County Roundup Rodeo to be staged here Friday and Saturday.

Riding clubs from across the Panhandle will be diked out in their glad rags for a gala parade at 4 o'clock Friday afternoon.

Clubs from Plainview, Hereford, Idalou, Petersburg, Lone Star and Abernathy as well as the Randall County Sheriff's Posse will ride in the parade.

The parade will move out onto Fourth Avenue from Sixteenth Street. It will proceed along Fourth Avenue to Fifteenth Street and circle the Square twice then move along Fourth to Twenty-seventh.

Leading the parade will be Sheriff L.S. "Slim" Johnston, Randall County's six-gun sheriff of the year. He will be followed by a mounted color guard from the Canyon Veterans of Foreign Wars post.

Following the parade a barbecue supper will be served from 5 o'clock until 7:30 on the court house lawn. It will be catered by Walter Jetton of Fort Worth.

The rodeo will begin with a grand entrance at 8 o'clock. There will be a dance at the National Guard Armory following the rodeo performance.

Highlight of the festivities will be the old settlers reunion to be held Saturday from 2 o'clock in the afternoon until 5. There will be entertainment galore with old fiddlers, square dance exhibitions and other numbers.

A pancake supper will be served from 5 o'clock until 7 at the American Legion Hall and the final performance of the rodeo will begin at 8. A dance will be held at the armory again Saturday night.

Winner of a beef being given away by the Randall County Sheriff's Posse will be announced Saturday.

In addition to the regular rodeo events, the annual calf scramble will be held for children 13 and younger. Prizes of $5, $3 and $2 are being offered each night in this event. Contestants may enter each night at the rodeo.

Stock for the show is being furnished by Dick and Jack Ratjen of Happy. They are reputed to have some of the saltiest rodeo stock in the Southwest.

Richard Walters will be clown for the show.

The rodeo and old settlers reunion was begun last year as a project of Randall County Sheriff's Posse. Due to interest and the magnitude of the undertaking, it has become a community project sponsored by the Chamber of Commerce, Kiwanis, Lions, Rotary and Jaycees as well as the Sheriff's Posse.

Plains Giant's Remains Found At Project Site

The oldest old-timer to show up for Randall County's old timers' reunion Aug. 4-5 appeared early when John Matthews, 810 15th St., brought to light a fossil elephant estimated to be between 200,000 and 400,000 years old.

"It isn't often you meet an elephant in the middle of a street," Matthews quipped, after spotting the tusk of the huge animal showing up in a cut for a new street in the Hidden Valley Addition to Canyon.

Matthews saw the white circular outline of a tusk in the slice of road cut Sunday evening and called Jack T. Hughes, curator of paleontology at the Panhandle-Plains Historical Museum. Together, they investigated and decided to try to save what they could of the mammoth.

With help from West Texas State College geology students Bill Harrison, Truman Laughery, Jim Conner, Herman Jackson and Marianne Perdue, digging started Monday morning. Arent Lair and Aubrey Crossland, developers of Hidden Valley, gave permission and contractors held off work on the section of roadway containing fossils.

Evidence that Canyonites were intrigued with the prehistoric dweller of Hidden Valley were the streams of visitors who looked over the digging as it progressed. Gradually, the workers uncovered most of a 7-inch-diameter tusk and an almost complete skull. Beneath the skull, another huge bone became evident.

How much of the elephant remains intact in the bank cannot be determined until further excavation is completed. Usually, a few bones of one fossil elephant are retrieved at each discovery. In this way, the museum at Canyon has managed to assemble almost every bone needed to reconstruct a mammoth for display.

"We needed skull material worse than anything else," Hughes said, "and this skull will help."

The ancient elephant—judged to have died of old age because of the badly worn condition of his tooth—died in a vast ice age lake which once covered the area around Canyon. Deposits representing this lake have previously yielded bones of prehistoric horse and camel and some fragments of mammoth, but Matthews' find is the first near-complete elephant to turn up in the immediate vicinity of Canyon.

JACK HUGHES, left, of Panhandle Plains Museum, looks on as fellow workers tenderly manipulate a half-million year old mammoth tusk uncovered in south Canyon this week. The find was made as a new road was being opened into the Hidden Valley housing project.

THIS WADDY of the old West topped a tough one in the first annual Randall County Sheriff's Posse Roundup Rodeo. There'll be thrills aplenty this week end as the second annual Roundup is staged here.

Moore's Researching For Symphonic Drama Group

West Texas State's W.A. Moore will confer with Paul Green within the next few days during a trip East.

Green has agreed to write a symphonic drama about the history of West Texas for production in Palo Duro Canyon.

Mr. and Mrs. Moore departed Canyon Wednesday. Progress on the talks with Green will be reported next week in an article to be dispatched to The News by Moore.

Members of the board of directors of the group promoting the symphonic drama here has requested Mr. and Mrs. Moore to visit most representative and best known productions. They will interview directors, business managers and other key participants.

Pleas Entered In Disturbance

Several Amarillo youngsters entered pleas of nolo contendere in county court during the past week to charges of disturbing brought against them as an aftermath of a party in South Amarillo early last month.

Nolo contendere is a Latin term meaning I do not wish to contend. In law as it is used here, it subjects the defendant to conviction but does Pond will become regional supervisor of law enforcement, with headquarters in San Angelo.

Fine Canyon Man On Check Charge

Richard Hernandez, Canyon, was fined $1.00 and court costs this week after entering a plea of guilty in Judge Wayland Angel's County Court to charges of swindling by worthless check. Sheriff's deputies said Hernandez was charged in connection with a check written June 26 to Burchfield Service Station.

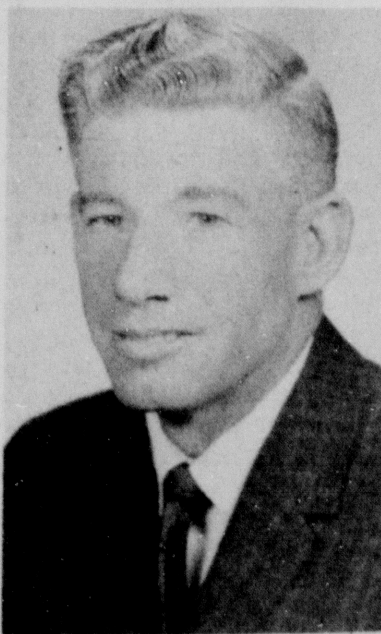

National Group To Honor Brazzil Early Next Month

County Agent John Brazzil has been notified that he will receive the Distinguished Service Award from the National Association of County Agricultural Agents.

The award is to be presented at the group's national meeting in New York in early September. Brazzil was named as one of the top six Texas county agents to be honored with the award.

Brazzil is a native of Gatesville and is the son of a farmer. His dad at 74 still is actively engaged in farming.

Brazzil attended a small school in the Flat community near Gatesville and was graduated from high school there in 1938.

JOHN BRAZZIL

He attended Southwest Texas State Teachers College at San Marcos before entering the Navy in 1942 as a volunteer. He served aboard a naval destroyer in the Pacific and was a participant in several major naval engagements during World War II. Out of uniform in early 1946, he entered Texas A & M College and finished in 1948 with a degree in agronomy.

He was employed by the A & M extension service introducing new control measures on cotton insects. He left that position after a short time and went to Upshur County as assistant county agent.

In Upshur County his chief task was working with 4-H Clubs.

John was transferred to Canyon June 1, 1951. Since coming here he has worked diligently with both 4-H Clubbers and adults.

John was married in September of 1948 to Estelle LeNormand from Liberty. The Brazzils have a daughter, Connie Fay, 8 years old and in the third grade.

News Publishes Stories From Old Editions

In honor of the Old Settlers of this area The Canyon News this week will publish several stories taken from the files of yesteryear.

We hope you enjoy this living history of our area. We hope you will forgive us if some current news is shortened or its publication delayed to make room on this occasion for some of these stories.

Didn't Know I Was Loaded, Gonna Give That Gun Away

Jackrabbits in Hunsley Hills nibbled at alfalfa in safety this week. Their arch-enemy is in Randall County jail--there he declares, all because he shot at a jackrabbit.

Tom Almond was fined $100.00 and jailed for 30 days Friday after he entered a plea of guilty to a charge of aggravated assault with a pistol.

Almond is charged with discharging a pistol over the head of Bruce Campbell, president of Hunsley Hills Developers, Inc.

Here's how Campbell said it happened.

Almond was employed to drive a tractor to which a mowing machine was attached. Thursday afternoon Almond, who admitted he drank "about a pint of whiskey," detached himself from the tractor and betook himself to the site of a sewer facility being installed by a group of workmen.

The workmen, under Campbell's supervision, had excavated a hole about 17-feet in depth. Campbell said he feared for the safety of Almond whose uncertain state of locomotion had taken him precariously near the edge of the pit which contained water about 4 feet in depth.

He told Almond to leave, that he might fall in and be injured. He said Almond thereupon became abusive and threatening.

Almond left and Campbell was talking to a customer a few minutes later when he reappeared in a pickup truck armed with a pistol.

"I'm gonna kill you," Campbell quoted Almond as having said. He is reported to then have discharged the pistol into the air over Campbell's head. Campbell notified the Sheriff's Department and Almond was arrested.

Almond's story was different. He said he got nervous and drank a little whiskey just to calm his nerves. He went to the pit in the first place just to be neighborly.

He didn't get mad at Campbell for shooting him away from that pit. He just returned to "show Bruce the gun I used to kill all them jackrabbits off the tractor."

He didn't really shoot at Campbell. "I saw a big old jackrabbit off over there on the other side of him."

Deputy Sheriff Ray Tinsley said Almond has had trouble with the law before as a result of brandishing the pistol.

"I ain't gonna do it no more," vowed Almond. "I'm not even gonna take that gun home with me."

He didn't go home. He went to jail.

CANYON RIM

Medias of communication bear a great responsibility in a free enterprise system. It is the duty of news media first to inform.

Public opinion is shaped by medias of mass communication and the nation's ability to wisely govern itself is enormously affected. To us in the newspaper business can largely be credited the state of affairs in which we find our nation today. All too often newspapers have sought self-interest rather than public interest. All too often huge newspaper chains have pursued riches rather than right.

Many times newspapers have drifted with the stream rather than contend with the eternal issues which confront mankind every generation as he seeks to gain or maintain his freedom. Some newspapers exist only as the foundation for some political or economic empire.

As we enter our second year at The Canyon News, we would like to reiterate some of the policies of this newspaper. The political stand of this newspaper is independent, reserving the right to attack or defend any political party on the merit of facts at hand.

We re-dedicate ourselves to the reporting of the news for the benefit of the people this newspaper serves. Truth shall always be our goal and truth shall be the defense of anything we may offer in our columns.

Jeanell Jarnagin has one of the best philosophies that we have heard recently.

She says she takes time out to do things with her children almost any time they express a craving for her companionship.

"They won't remember how neatly the house was kept in a few years," she says. "They will remember the times I played with them."

News stand censorship will never work. This primarily is because there is no one qualified to say what should be placed on the news stand and what should not be placed there. Goodness always must be voluntary. It can never be legislated or imposed.

We certainly agree that much literature unfit to be read by our young folks (or old folks for that matter) finds its way to news stands across the country.

Dry up the market for that literature and it will no longer be published and offered for sale.

We firmly believe that morality begins at home. If you would have your children grow into moral men and women, then show them by example. What is shown will be reaped in multiple as certainly as the heat of summer follows close on the heels of balmy spring.

Melon Fest Set At West Texas

Annual watermelon party for students, faculty and staff of West Texas State College has been scheduled at 6:15 p.m. Tuesday on the east side of old Buffalo Stadium.

The melons are furnished without charge each year by Taylor and Sons of Canyon.

E. P. Hardings Go to Canada

Mr. and Mrs. E.P. Harding have returned from an extended vacation trip which took them as far as Manitoba, Canada. They went first to Minot, North Dakota, where they visited with Sgt. and Mrs. Paul Hurley, who accompanied them on the remainder of their trip. Sgt. Hurley is Mrs. Harding's brother.

They fished at Clear Lake, Manitoba, which is truly a fisherman's dream; all fish under thirty inches must be thrown back. Fishing is from boats, and the Hardings and Hurleys caught their share of pike and wall-eye, of "keeping" size. Mrs. Harding stated that the pike could be sliced and are white meat.

Also visited were Riding Mountain National Park, Manitoba; the Black Hills of South Dakota; Deadwood, scene of the adventures of Buffalo Bill and Calamity Jane, and the Rushmore Memorial, where the heads of presidents are carved.

LETTER TO THE EDITOR

Dear Editor:

The Canyon summer recreational baseball program, for parents, players and spectators, has just ended. It has included players, including girls of one age group, from the ages of 8 through 15. In addition, an American Legion team has been fielded this summer and played some of its games on the Babe Ruth field. Also a mens' eight-team softball league is playing, thanks mostly to the efforts of David Lipscomb. All of this development is due to the start of Little League in 1957 and of Babe Ruth the year after. Both Leagues have had a steady growth, resulting in the expansion of the whole program to its present size. The names of those responsible for this all-around community effort are legion, and it would be folly to try to present an exhaustive list in the present letter. But as secretary of the Babe Ruth League I should like to give credit to as many people as I myself and my consultants are conscious of, trusting that those whose efforts are not here acknowledged will not censor what is only plain human inadequacy.

Volunteer umpires, without whom such a program could not function one day, have kept the Babe Ruth League going: Borden Price, C.L. Chambliss, Davis Price, Bing Crosby, Sidney Burgess, George Ritter, Lewis Brandon, Roscoe Richardson (one of the most active of all), M.C. Winter, Bill Downing, Avenet Lair, Cristler Crain, Tom MacOwan, Dave Mathis, Bill Townsend, Charles Smyrl, Joe Granato, Jerry Richardson have all helped. Scorekeepers and broadcasters have been Barbara Brown, Leon Trekel, Hampton Lisle, Earl Crump, Pat Jarrett (chief announcer). The coaches who have done such a particularly good job this year, are George Stevens, Durward Brown, Earl Crump and Roy Greer; their assistants have been Eddie Holcomb, Earl Byerley, Dewey Hunt and Leon Trekel. Tom Lair has been the treasurer of Babe Ruth League, Jim Cabe the vice-president, and Dr. Dudley Moore the president. To Dr. Moore goes the biggest helping of credit of all for the meticulous care he gives, day in and day out, to the Park, which has now begun to serve additional groups. The Park has been in request for use by other Panhandle communities. With the addition of more lights it would probably be the pick of Babe Ruth League age.

The county and the Canyon service clubs have steadily supported the League and helped materially to bring it along to its present state of growth. For this continued trust and support of a purely community and volunteer endeavor the officers of the League wish to express publicly their thanks. The latest evidence of this active interest in the welfare of Canyon's youth is the recent decision of the Kiwanis Club to honor one player from each league, Little League and Babe Ruth, for sportsmanship. The Kiwanis Club will present trophies to the two at its Friday luncheon meeting.

In closing, let me ask that the "graduating" Little Leaguers bring me their birth certificates as soon as possible, if they wish to play Babe Ruth ball next year. My address is 2520 6th Avenue and my phone is OL-5272.

George de Schweinitz, Secretary Randall County Babe Ruth League.

Randall County Marker Moved For Expressway

To be seen at the roadside part south of Canyon is the Randall County Monument honoring General Horace Randall for whom the county was named. The marker was first located north of town near the top of the hill at the college farm. When the expressway was built and the highway widened, the monument was moved to its present location.

This is one of more than one thousand historical markers erected throughout Texas during the decade of 1930-40 for the Centennial celebration of independence, won in 1836. Texas, joined by the Federal Government, invested more than six million dollars in the celebration and erection of these markers. The monument for this county was placed in 1936, and reads, as follows:

RANDALL COUNTY
Formed from Young and Bexar territories; created August 21, 1876; organized July 27, 1889. Named in honor of Horace Randall, 1821-1864, a distinguished Confederate officer who fell in battle at the head of his brigade. Canyon, the county seat.

Visiting with relatives in Canyon this week are I. Clyde Davis of Las Cruces, New Mexico, and his daughter, Mrs. Bob Schuligan and her two children of California. He is a brother of Roscoe Davis and the son-in-law of Mrs. Worth A. Jennings, Sr., of this city.

Patricia Wallace of Crosbyton is visiting in the home of her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. J.A. Edwards this week. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alton Wallace.

Hilltop Views

BY DR. J. A. HILL

Back in the prohibition days the "Antis" harped long and loud on the idea that the 18th amendment (prohibition) produced the bootlegger and much of the crime in this country. Repeal was advocated as a means of reducing if not stamping out these evils.

A lot of good people, incredible as it seems, fell for this kind of deception and repeal carried in a landslide. That was in 1933. Recently Congressman Celler of New York, a dripping wet advocate of repeal, introduced a bill to earmark one percent of the federal liquor taxes (about 16 million dollars) to stamp out bootlegging. It is now clear to anybody who has open eyes that millions of prohibitionists about 1933 were taken for a ride.

In the meantime, the liquor industry is growing by leaps and bounds. It scored a significant victory recently when the Texas legislature authorized the establishment of a brewery in dry territory adjacent to Fort Worth and the governor allowed it to become law. Thus Governor Daniel and the legislature take their places alongside the liquor industry.

An intelligent people know that a significant percent of all crime in this country is in some way related to intoxicants. The Austin lobby that the governor talked much about lately must have reached higher in Texas government than we were told.

If the American people don't already know it they should be told that the alcoholic beverage industry has publicly announced its purpose to "educate" the youth of this nation in the use of intoxicants. You have only to watch television a few hours to see that the program is already under way. The shame of it is that millions of our church people sit silently by and watch this program unchallenged. A further shame is that even some of our church leaders are pussyfooting on the liquor problem and some deacons and stewards and what have you keep intoxicants in their refrigerators and throw cocktail parties in their homes. Surely these people do not realize that every nickel spent for any form of beverage alcohol is an industry that thrives on violation of the law and is killing annually untold numbers of innocent people.

But fortunately we yet have public officials that courageously face up to the facts and honestly try to enforce the law. Some of them live right here in Canyon and neighboring counties. At least one such, a few months ago, gave his life for the cause of decency and legally constituted authority. Many others constantly expose themselves to the dangers imposed by the lawless element through, in part at least the liquor traffic.

Speaking a few days ago to the Oak Cliff Rotary Club, Henry Wade, one of the outstanding law enforcement officers in Texas, bluntly told his audience that DWI cases constitute the "biggest problem in law enforcement," and in substance that public opinion is largely responsible for it. While this district attorney gets convictions in only 70 percent of DWI cases, in all others the percentage runs from 95 percent to 97 percent. Apparently, he said, jurors fail to realize that "every drunken driver is a potential murderer."

Since jurors are drawn from the public it is a fair conclusion that the public is itself soft toward this form of law violation. It is also a fair conclusion that in "educating" young people to drink the liquor industry is aiding and abetting lawlessness. Thinking people should think twice before purchasing or using another drop of alcoholic beverages.

VISIT IN OREGON

Mrs. J.E. Mickey and daughter, Joan, have returned after an extended visit in Oregon. In Crabtree, they were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Verle Iverson, former residents of Canyon, and with the Iverson's daughter, Nina Henderson, and her family. In Eugene, they saw Mr. and Mrs. Don Iverson. She is the former Virginia Rigby of this city. Enroute home, they stopped in Santa Fe to visit with Don Mickey.

Canyon Milliped Sought By Zoologists

Nell B. Causey of the University of Arkansas is looking for a Canyon milliped--thousand leg to you.

She has advertised in The Canyon News and sends along a letter of explanation. She is willing to pay shipping costs on any specimen sent to her.

Following is the text of her letter.

"I am a zoologist who has specialized in the naming of millipeds. There are about 10 other specialists of my kind scattered throughout the world, most of them associated with some museum or university. Millipeds have no direct economic importance; we study them because they are largely unknown and very interesting. We

THIS IS NOT a Canyon milliped such as the one sought by Nell Causey of the University of Arkansas but it is very similar. Only one specimen of the Canyon milliped ever was taken and that was more than 100 years ago.

"One specimen of the Canyon milliped was collected in 1852 by members of the Marcy Expedition. It was named Julus ornatus Girard and a short, incomplete description was published. That specimen may be in the Smithsonian Institution, but it cannot be found. Additional specimens are needed in order that a fuller description can be written and published. Similar big millipeds have been found in western Oklahoma, New Mexico, north into Idaho, and south into Mexico. Not until we get mature males from Canyon can we be certain which of these should be called Julus ornatus.

"These millipeds live two or three feet underground most of the year. After rains they come to the surface and are sometimes seen out during daylight hours. More often they hide under rocks, logs, and brush and crawl about on the surface only during the night. They are harmless and can be safely handled with bare hands."

City Commissioners Ask People To Clean Up Lots

Canyon city commission has made a plea for cooperation of real estate owners in cutting weeds, especially on vacant lots.

City officials have dispatched letters to property owners asking for cooperation. Following is the text of the letter.

"Our program for the cutting of weeds is now under way and this letter is to acquaint you with our need for your cooperation. If you own, or are the agent for the owner, of any property within the city limits of Canyon we earnestly solicit your help in ridding such property of weeds and debris for the sake of public health and safety. Due largely to the recent rains, weeds have grown at an accelerated rate. Weeds are both a nuisance in that they harbor mosquitoes and other pests, and also create a fire hazard when they are dead and dry.

"The charter of the City of Canyon authorizes the City Commission to control the excessive growth of weeds within the corporate city limits. For your convenience, we will be happy to make arrangements to see that your property is mowed. Since the city has only one mower and it is needed to mow right of way, if you will notify us we will have a private mower mow your property and send you a bill direct, or we will furnish you with the names of private mowers.

"August 15th is the time that has been set for the final check of un-mowed property. Your compliance with this letter mailed in the public interest will be greatly appreciated."

City Manager Bill York has asked that any private mower in town contact city hall so his name can be placed on file there for reference when mowing jobs arise.

COUNTY AGENT'S COLUMN

by JOHN BRAZZIL

The 1961 Yearbook of Agriculture is now off the press. This years book in entitled "Seeds". Chapters are devoted to the importance of seeds, the life processes, production, certification, testing, and marketing. This yearbook contains a verse description of a seed written by G.S. Galbraith. It reads as follows:

"On A Seed"

This was the goal of the leaf and the root.

For this did the blossom burn its hour.

This little grain is the ultimate fruit.

This is the awesome vessel of power.

For this is the source of the root and the bud....

World unto world unto world remolded.

This is the seed, compact of God.

Wherein all mystery is enfolded.

This 590 page book can be gotten by requesting one from U.S. Senators and Representatives. They each receive a supply for distribution to people in their districts. It is for sale by the Superintendent of Documents, Washington 25, D.C.

The exhibition building for the Randall County Junior Livestock Association is rapidly taking shape. It is being built on the association lots at first ave. and 17th st. Sim Structures, Inc. of Amarillo is builder. Why not drive down within the next few days and watch the progress of this building, a long dreamed of reality, for Canyon and Randall County.

The primary purpose of this building is to serve as a home for the Randall County Junior Livestock Show. The many hundreds of people who contributed to the success of this project feel that it will serve the people in many ways. The front 60 feet will be completely finished with kitchen, restrooms, concrete floor, will be heated, and can adequately serve a multitude of uses.

I have recently received a good supply of a new generalized soil map of Randall County. This map was compiled by Billy Chance of the Soil Conservation Service. Contributions were made by the Texas Agricultural Experiment Stations and the Texas Highway Department. The major soil types are located and described. All county roads and major highways are designated and most of the homesteads can be located. If you would like to take a look at the new soil map come by office in the courthouse. There may be enough copies to go around.

They will make sketches of theatres and settings and make detailed suggestions about various production procedures. Mr. and Mrs. Moore will be accompanied by Erin Wertenberger, drama major from Hereford who has been the designer and technical director for the Branding Iron Theatre during the past two summers.

No more messy, sticky, old-fashioned pastes, powders or pads. Each application of Plastic Cushion for False Teeth ends loose denture troubles for weeks at a time. Easy to use, sanitary, mildly medicated to help heal sore gums. Eat "waxed foods" with comfort and confidence—no food particles under plate—no "denture breath". A.C. Haley, Jr., spent the weekend visiting with relatives in Seligman, Arizona. He left Canyon Thursday and returned Sunday.

All employees of Cooper's Market attended the annual barbecue given by the Panhandle Associated Grocers in Thompson Park, Amarillo, Sunday.

(Delayed)

Mr. and Mrs. C.V. Lowe of Gruver were here Monday and Tuesday to visit in the G.B. Combs home. Mrs. Lowe is the former Ruby Combs, daughter of Mr. Combs. She has been a teacher in the Gruver school system for a number of years.

Mr. and Mrs. John A. McNeill and children, Bob and Hannah, of Arab, Alabama, are visiting here in the home of her mother, Mrs. Mattie Bourn, and with other relatives and friends. Mrs. McNeill will be remembered as the former Sarah Bonnie Bourn.

Cathy Hinger returned to Canyon Friday after visiting for two months in Corpus Christi. Cathy is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Hinger.

PICNIC IN PARK

Attending a picnic supper in the Palo Duro Park recently were Mr. and Mrs. A.J. Dimmick of Kingsville, Mrs. Muehner Harvey of Plainview, Lila Lill of Canyon, and Mrs. Roy L. Johnson of Portland, Oregon.

Excellent stock may be made from the wing tips, backs and gizzards of chicken. Do you use a chicken once a week? Save these parts from week to week, storing them in your freezer. Then you can make some rich stock at one fell swoop.

You'll feel old-time virtue if you bake your own beans. Follow any standard recipe. These usually call for salt pork, but if there's a ham bone in the house you may substitute it for the salt pork. It won't hurt to throw in bits of ham along with the bone.

ATTEND REUNION

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Morgan and her sister, Mrs. Ardis Stamper, were in Dallas and Kilgore over the weekend. In Kilgore, they attended a family reunion honoring their brother and his family, Dr. and Mrs. J. Edwin Low, Jonathan, Martha and David. The Lows have recently returned from Kontagora, Nigeria, where he is a Baptist medical missionary. They will visit in Canyon in about two weeks.

Mr. and Mrs. Warren Johnson have been visiting in the home of his sister, Mrs. Hazel Walsh, and with Mr. and Mrs. Charles Donnell. The Johnsons, now of Los Angeles, are former residents of Canyon. Mrs. Walsh will return home with them for a visit.

Mrs. W.E. Pettitt and sons, Johnny Mike and Eddie, are visiting in the home of Mrs. John V. Miller. Mrs. Pettitt was formerly Lynna Lee Lockhart. She has been living in Seattle, Washington, for the past four years. Her husband, Edwin, is enroute to Karachi, Pakistan. He is going there for Boeing Aircraft. Mrs. Pettitt and the boys will visit relatives in Texas before returning to Seattle.

Tragedies Many In Early Days

Editors Note: This is the second of a series of articles written by Claude Money relating the experiences of pioneer families of Randall County. The first, telling of the Worth A. Jennings family, appeared last week.

Addie Money McElroy, 1313 2nd. Ave., has been a resident of Canyon and vicinity over a period of sixty-six years. Born in McLennan County July 20, 1885, she accompanied her parents, Columbus Pierson and Susan Money, three brothers, two step-brothers and a half-sister, to Amarillo by train in November, 1894. They came to Canyon from Amarillo by hack.

Mr. Money acquired the section where the Canyon City Club is now located, and attempted farming. A house was rented in the 1100 block on 6th Ave., and is still being occupied.

Water was obtained from a hand-dug well which had the sides boarded to keep it from caving in. A bucket was let down to the water with a rope, and retrieved when full. Wood for fuel was gathered along the creek at the Club section. Many families still relied on "prairie fuel" for heating and cooking. Lighting was with coal-oil lamps.

Mrs. McElroy was greatly impressed with Canyon's Court House, as it was the first she had seen. On the north and east sides the dirt breast-works constructed during the Indian scare of 1890 were still visible.

Public School was held in a three room building, facing east, where the south Jr. High is now located. The north room was not completed and served as the cloak room. Classes were held in the middle room and the south room was used to play in on cold days. Students sat at desks, but were called to the recitation benches at the front to give reports. Hitching racks were located on the north and south of the building. A well was south-east of the building and water was dispensed from a bucket with a "public" drinking cup. The school had a shining coat of paint, which was unusual for that day.

Christmas eve of 1894 produced a big snow. Following the storm Mrs. McElroy's brothers Wade and Edgar went with S. V. Wirt to the Block pasture east of town to kill an antelope for meat. After a long but successful hunt the men returned after dark. The cold and snow were so bitter that water had to be heated to thaw Edgar's boots off. Edgar was snow blind for several days.

In 1895 the Money's moved about four miles west of town where the L. A. Donnell place is now. Much of the family food was grown in a garden which was fenced to keep out stock. In July of that year the Double Circles were trafing a heard of about 3,500 steers from the south and to the west of Canyon. The Tierra Blanca was near dry and the cattle were mighty thirsty. Smelling the water in a stock tank near the garden, the heard started to run and pushed right through the fence and flattened the beautiful garden. The trail boss paid five dollars for the damages.

Screens were unknown in that day and doors and windows were left open in summer to catch what breeze there was. One steer stuck his head through the door and bellowed, scattering kids like a bunch of quail.

Tomatoes and corn were about the only canned goods available. The family of ten used a fifty pound sack of flour and a sack of corn meal every week. Tallow biscuits were baked for breakfast each day as was cornbread for dinner and supper. Syrup came in large wooden barrels and Mr. Money would get a gallon each week. If one got tired of syrup they just "got tired of eating" as syrup was for every meal. Jams and jellies were made from wild grapes and other berries growing along the creeks.

Mr. Money got lonesome for the cotton country and took his family in two covered wagons and a two-wheel cart down to near Birdville, Texas, where they lived from July, 1896 until their return to Canyon in May, 1899. This time the family was settled on the Club section about where the Dick Barretts now live.

Tragedy came hard and often in the old days. In 1900 June Lair, brother of T. G. Lair and Mrs. John Davis of this city, died of typhoid fever. Mrs. Money was going to visit the Lair family and sent her son, Horace, out to catch the horse and hitch it to the buggy.

Horace became entangled in the bridle and was dragged to death. A double funeral was held for the two boys. Claud Money, also a son, was killed by a horse in 1902.

Addie Belle Money and Jeff Davis McElroy were married June 24, 1914, and lived in Happy, where Mr. McElroy was associated with the Happy Grocery Co. Mr. McElroy died February 20, 1934.

Mrs. McElroy now a member of the Church of Christ, was a charter member, along with her parents, of the Christian Church in Canyon. Until 1899 all denominations held services in the County Court House. The Baptists built the first church house on the north east corner lots of the twelve hundred block on Fourth Ave. and 13th St. In comparing the present with pioneering days, Mrs. McElroy says folks were a lot friendlier then.

As few people as there were, when someone came to visit they were made as welcome as possible. However, she prefers our modernness over having to clean lamps, draw water, wash on a rub-board, and gather "chips".

Shopping is more selective now than in 1894 when Canyon had only three stores: R. B. Redfearn Gro., about where Jennings Men's Wear is located; A. E. Brown, groceries and dry good, where Dan's is now; and S. V. Wirt, drugs and the Post Office, on the same site as Cooper's.

Of this pioneer family only Mrs. McElroy, a half-sister, Mrs. Florence Fogerson, Silveston, and a step-brother, Howard Stevenson, Happy, remain. Mrs. McElroy has two nephews, Bill and Ed Money, who reside in Canyon. Tammy, Ed's Money's young daughter has brought the family line in Randall County to the fourth generation.

Canyon Youth Graduates From Marine School

A Canyon, leatherneck was graduated, July 7, from the four-week Mechanical Fundamentals School at the Naval Air Technical Training Center, Memphis, Tenn.

Marine Pfc. Daniel M. Milhoan, son of Dan Milhoan of Route 1, Box 146, Canyon is continuing training at the center's nine-week Aviation Mechanist's Mate School.

Upon successful completion of training at Memphis, he will be qualified for duty with the aviation branch of the Marine Corps.

Before entering the service in November 1960, Milhoan attended Canyon High School.

The citizens of Canyon deeply sympathize with Mr. and Mrs. C.P. Money in their sudden and awful bereavement. Little Horace was a bright, intelligent boy, kind and dutiful to his parents, obedient to his teachers and generally loved by his associates.

Junius C. Lair, the subject of this sketch, was born in Collin County, Texas, March 13th, 1876, and died at the home of his Christian parents, he early learned the lessons of filial love and obedience, and during our intimate acquaintance extending over several years, I never heard him speak an unkind word of any human or give expression to any impure thought.

(Editor's note: June Lair died of typhoid fever. Horace Money was dragged to death by a horse which he was attempting to hitch to a buggy, in order that his mother could visit with the Lairs. Joint funeral services were conducted for the two boys.)

Waddies Whooped It Up At First Cowboy Reunion

From the Stayer, August 3, 1900

The West Texas Cowboy's Reunion Association is now thoroughly organized with a large membership of the best and most substantial men in the Panhandle, its membership extending from Coffeyburg, Mo., to Colorado, Texas, and from Clarendon to Rosell, N.M. Its headquarters are at Canyon City, where according to its constitution, it must hold reunions every year. This permanency of location will conduce largely to its success as it will enable its members and promoters to make substantial and permanent preparations for it. The association was organized temporarily at Canyon on April 2nd, 1900 with R.G. Oldham as president and A.N. Henson, secretary. On June 2, 1900, organization was perfected by adopting a constitution and by-laws and appointing the reunion committees for 1900. In the constitution adopted the following is set forth as its purpose:

"Its object shall be to hold annual re-unions at Canyon City, for the purpose of interest, profits and pleasure to the stock growing industry of the Plains."

Art. 7 of the by-laws provides that regular meetings shall be held annually at the close of the re-union and special meetings at other times as the president shall deem necessary. The next meeting will be held on the two days following the ex-Confederate re-union.

During the re-union just passed our secretary enrolled over 100 names in addition to those already on his list and issued 150 badges.

The officers elected for the ensuing term are: President, T.A. Gray, Tulsa; vice-president, Ed Harrell, Canyon City; secretary, A.N. Henson and treasurer, R.E. Beard, both of Canyon City.

In the roping contest on the 26th, there were fifteen entries as follows: J.P. Stone, J.R. Light, Rustler Loveless, Tom Vaughn, Frank Vaughn, Mal Shelley, Chas. McDade, Jim Williams, Henry Jones, Pres Burnan, G.A. Inman, J.R. King, Ben Hooper, W.W. Dillingham, Sam Sims.

Eight of the contestants caught and tied steers in the time given below: Jim P. Stone, 1 minute, 1 second; Henry Jones, 1 minute 55 seconds; Rustler Loveless, 1 minute, 14 seconds; J.R. Light, 1 minute, 11 seconds; G.A. Inman, 1 minute, 13 seconds; Ben Hooper, 1 minute 37 seconds.

As appears above Stone won first prize, a $60 saddle, and J.R. Light, second prize $25 cash.

Two steers were killed and one had his leg broken.

The rules for the tournament contest required at least ten entries and for broncho riding of at least seven. As there were not a sufficient number of entries neither of these contests came off, but the association management paid five dollars each to four men to ride bronchos. These feats were performed in a skillful and highly satisfactory manner by the following four young men: Geo. Hayden, Charles McDade, Robt. Farnsworth and Thad Cobb.

Quite an interesting 60 yards foot race was pulled off at 3 p.m., Friday. The contestants were Wm. Newberry, James Rogers and David Park. The purse was $17, entry fees $2.50. Rogers won the purse. Park stayed with him to the outcome, but the ground flew up and struck Newberry thus handicapping him to the extent that he got a little bit discouraged and quit.

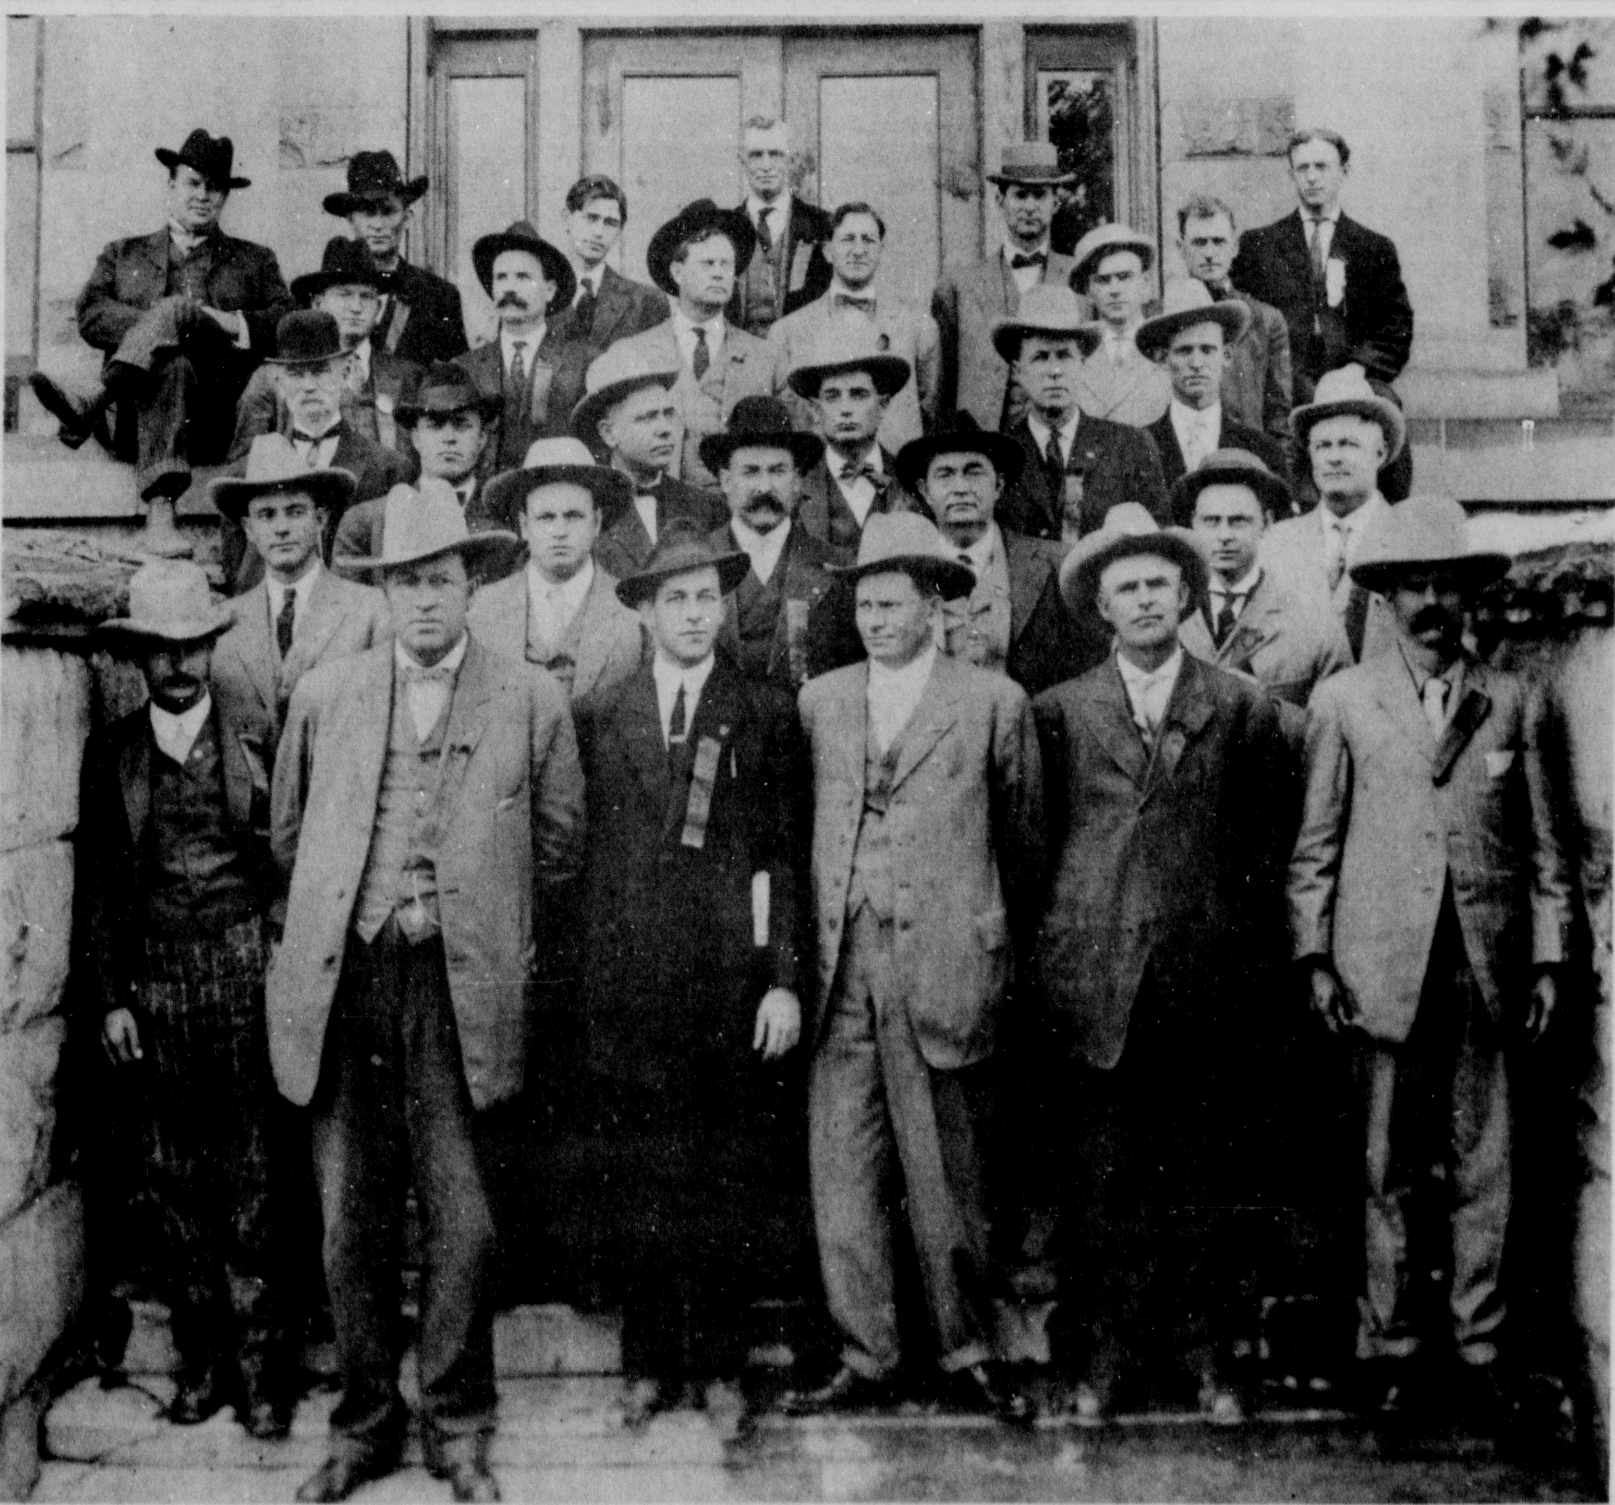

Randall Gets State Check

A check for $16,460.20 for right of way payment was sent to Randall County this week by the Texas Highway Department.

The sum forwarded is partial payment for the state's share of the cost of the land needed on U.S. 60 & U.S. 87, Between Junction U.S. 60 & 87 North of Canyon and 2.0 Miles West.

The check will be transmitted by District Engineer Charles W. Smith of Amarillo to the Randall County Commissioners Court.

While county and state share the cost of the right of way, the Texas Highway Department bears the cost of title insurance and pays the entire cost of appraisal work ordered by the Department. Checks for these items have already been forwarded from the Texas Highway Department to the parties concerned.

THIS IS A PHOTOGRAPH made shortly before adjournment in Amarillo of the Panhandle Sheriffs and Tax Collectors' Association, Oct. 28, 1911.

Langstons Tell Of High Adventure

(Editor's note, Mr. and Mrs. Tom Langston and their three sons, Stephen, Tom, Jr., and Norman, left Canyon last summer for Richland, Oregon, to make their home. This is Mr. Langston's account of their experiences.)

Occasionally Leona used to mention that she would like to do church work in the Northwest. In order to do so, it would be necessary for both of us to get teaching positions and do church work on the side. I had always said that if ever I should leave the college to go again into public school work, I much preferred a tiny system. While director of teacher placement at West Texas State I waited until such a listing came in. That is why we got in touch with the principal of the high school in Richland, Oregon, and later accepted teaching position.

It was hard to break the ties of friendship built up over a period of twenty-six years, but it also was an adventure that we looked forward to. Even on the way we were impressed with one thing: Texas is the only state between here and Oregon that has littered highways. Not only do the other states have strict litterbug fines, but they administer them. When we got to Richland, we went to a motel to stay until our furniture reached there by truck. Twice our furniture went to Richland, Washington, so that we were in the tourist court one entire week. On Sunday Mrs. Fred Gover had all of us, as well as another young teacher whose wife had not yet come to Richland, over for lunch. The Govers proved to be the finest neighbors anyone could possibly have.

For many years Fred had been janitor at the high school and just last year, because of age, retired. They are a very dignified couple and they use their influence for good. To spend only a few minutes in their home is so relaxing that you feel as if you have been spiritually and mentally overhauled.

Richland is a closely-knit community of 275 intermarried people. Everybody is a Gover, a Saunders, a Carnahan, a Sass, or related in some way through marriage. There is an Odd Fellows Lodge, a Grange (the social glue of the community), and the following churches: Christian, Methodist, Catholic, Seventh Day Adventist, Lutheran, and Nazarene (in nearby New Bridge).

The Mormons have a large congregation that meet in Halfway, fourteen miles northeast of Richland. (Incidentally, Halfway and Richland have the same school administration--superintendent and school board--and they are fierce traditional rivals.)

Leona enjoyed her sixteen students in the third grade, and I also liked my high school teaching of sophomore and junior English, shorthand, typewriting, and journalism (including the annual). For the latter I had absolutely no training, but at least we got the material to the printer on time so that we received our annuals on May 1. Next year instead of Journalism I shall teach freshman English and book-keeping will be altered with shorthand. Fourteen was my largest class.

Stephen was more than busy as manager of the football team, and for the first time in the history of the school the boys voted the manager a football letter. Stephen played guard on the basketball team and was the only freshman in the entire Baker County B League to make a starting team.

He also played third base on the baseball team. The Richland teams were very poor, but next year the Eagles (just like Canyon) should be much better. We had a crackerbox for a gym, but next year we are getting a new one.

Only one senior was on the basketball squad, whereas every other team had at least three seniors on their starting five. Next year's state basketball tournament will be played in Baker, the county seat, and we surely would like to represent our league. The baseball field and track is the prettiest imaginable.

That eastern part of the state is a fisherman's paradise, and all kinds of wild game are available. In fact, many people run into deer each year, causing considerable car damage. We hit several pheasants during the year and also ran over one weasel, for which the citizenry would be thankful.

In our yard we had purple plums, green gage plums, apricots, peaches, and black walnuts. Also available were really delicious apples, strawberries, and all kinds of good vegetables.

Farming and ranching are the main industries, though all the farms are small and there is very little equipment. A pretty good size farm is 40 acres, and one man has 80 acres. Herefords are the main beef cattle (and a town just west of us is named Hereford), and Jerseys are the principal dairy cows.

People heat with oil and cook with electricity. There is no water meter, so one could leave his water on all the time and pay only $3. Actually, however, water is the greatest problem of the little town.

They get their water right out of the Eagle Creek (near the Snake River); and because of inadequate filtering, at times the water is awfully dirty. People laugh and say that if you turn on your hydrant and out comes a fish (which sometimes happens), you should throw it back because it is too small.

The cost per capita of a new water system will probably delay for many years getting a new system. The principal reason? The people, though poor, are proud and the little town owes not one cent and they believe in paying as you go--from either a personal or a municipal standpoint.

The winters are perfect. Because it is in the dry area, there is almost never a real rain and even then it falls in a nice, gentle manner with no wind. The coldest day was 13 above zero, and never in history has the school been postponed because of snow. We were advised to get snow tires made out of either sawdust or crushed walnuts (we used the latter), and were told to put antifreeze in our cars to take care of 30 below weather. Almost never does one need chains when using the snow tires. Many, many days there would be a small mist, but you could stay out in it all day and never be wet.

We attended the Central Baptist Church in Baker, a small Southern Baptist church that had a Sunday school attendance of 22 when we got there.

There was no pastor and not a deacon in the entire church. A widow, formerly of Texas, and a family who had lived in Arkansas were the only ones who had been reared as Southern Baptists. There is a Conservative Baptist Church in Baker. These people withdrew from the American Baptists fifteen years ago and set up headquarters in Denver.

In many ways they are similar to Southern Baptists. In February the church employed a young Big Spring minister who had been a pastor near Tyler. He and his wife and three daughters have been a real addition, and by May Sunday school had grown to an average of 68.

Other than just Canyonites in general, whom we missed so much, we felt the absence of culture, because there was no Mrs. Coffee, Mrs. Demus, Mrs. Bright, Mrs. Harper, et cetera. There are school bands in which all three of our boys played drums, just as they did in Canyon. In the spring there was a talent show, and Norman got quite a laugh and cheer when he sang "The Yellow Rose of Texas."

Tom and Stephen enjoyed Scouts, especially the outings and such things as the excursion down the Snake River to Huntington. Norman had a wonderful Cub Scout experience. Tom also was thrilled when he played guard and shortstop on his junior high basketball and baseball teams.

Every place has its advantages as well as disadvantages. No town can take the place that Canyon has in our hearts, but taking everything into consideration, we liked the Northwest.

Of course people kidded us about our Texas drawls and had to bring up Alaska occasionally. One student said that we talked so slowly that if we went out into the hills and yelled it would be tomorrow before we got an echo.

They, in turn, have a few odd expressions. No matter whom they are talking to they say, "You guys." It's fun, though. Come on out in the fall and we'll show you around.

Mrs. Edith Mae Livesay and children, Greg and Ellen, have returned from an extended vacation trip which included Hachita, New Mexico where she visited with an uncle, Frank F. Brown; El Paso, where she visited in the home of a brother, Mansil Stokes, and his family; with friends in Artesia, New Mexico, and in Lubbock.

Research has published many facts about color and its effect on us. Many papers have been written about moods, personality habits and even colors' effect on the general health.

Portrait painters try to show a dignified person by dressing them in queenly royal blue, while he attempts to show youth by using pastel colors.

Mary Sue Miller, who writes "A Lovelier You", says that "research in the field shows the reaction of people to various shades. Red is associated with either gaiety or the sensational. Yellow signifies cheerfulness. Blue stand for restfulness, green represents composure. Gray suggests dignity, and beige, stability.

Speaking purely in fashion terms, black spells sophistication. White speaks the language of drama.

Obviously a woman could make a more dramatic package of her appearance, where she sensitive to the relationship of color to her personality and the mood of an event. No time like the present to experiment!"

President Kennedy is reported to read at the rate of 1,200 words a minute. On a recent TV program a new speed reading course was shown and the pupils included three U.S. senators. Senator Symington said he could read 3,000 words a minute. One 16 year old boy in the class could read 12,000 words a minute. The average person is said to read about 250 words per minute....Pot-boiler (Next week I have a little news item that tries to establish the fact that there is no such animal as the average person.)

Art Oddity For The Week... The world's biggest book shop is that of W. & G. Foyle of London, which stocks books on 30 miles of shelves and sells 5 million books a year. UPI

A joke being told by a group of teachers about a little boy who failed to follow instructions very well. The children were told to paint a yellow duck carrying a red umbrella. One little child painted a purple duck with fellow feet. The teacher asked "Who ever saw a purple duck?" The little boy replied, "Well, who ever saw a duck with an umbrella?"

Mrs. Mary Jugel of Pitman, New Jersey, is visiting in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Rowie Durden. She is Mrs. Durden's mother, and made her first visit to Canyon last summer.

VICTORIA HOTEL was built by L.G. Conner, founder of Canyon, and was named in honor of his wife who later was queen of the 50th anniversary celebration in 1939. The hotel stood on the site of the present post office. It burned in 1909. Most of the citizens of Canyon congregated at the hotel for this picture.

Letter to the Editor

Dear Editor:

It is the inalienable right of every one to exercise the functions of his own mind according to the dictates of his own choices, in the light of his own understanding; and by the pattern of his thinking he inevitably classifies himself with others who think like him; for, "As a man thinketh in his heart, so is he."

He who believes he has the right to impose his personal relations upon another in order to satisfy his own sexual desires, is a rapist whether he ever commits the act or not. He who considers the taking of human life a privilege to be exercised according to his own will to satisfy his passion for lust, greed, or hate, is a murderer though he may never kill.

He who exercises faith in Christ is a Christian, and, he who denies the existence of God is an Atheist. Likewise those who subscribe to the ideology of Marx and Lenin are Communists regardless of whether or not they are card-carrying members; and he who embraces the tenets of a welfare state is a socialist—let him call himself what he will.

Therefore, would it not be reasonable to assume, that those who do not totally subscribe to a particular proposition, should be adjudged supporters of the proposition to the degree that they do subscribe to it?

There are many who have never personally embraced the Christian faith, yet they are friendly toward it—they believe in it as a wholesome way of life; and, though they are not would not want to live and rear their families in a community where there are no churches, and to various degrees they support religious causes with their presence, good will, and financial assistance.

They might be justly called Christian Sympathizers. So, to the degree that anyone who knowingly aids, supports, or espouses a cause, to that extent he is in sympathy with it; and, to do the same thing ignorantly lessens the contribution very little.

While one's beliefs determine what he really is at heart, they do not necessarily protect him from the consequences of error. To take a lethal dose of strychnine, regardless of how honestly one may believe it to be a beneficial drug, does not alter the end result one iota, unless he recognizes his mistake in time to correct it. The physician who prescribes a fatal treatment, though he be ever so conscientious, while he is not a murderer, his patient is no less dead.

Wise, indeed, is the individual—or nation—who is ever alert to obscured dangers and enemies in masquerade. No one should be accepted as a friend who recommends rattlesnakes for playthings, and that which destroys, as a cure for ills—though he may want to be, and thinks that he is. There is greater danger in choosing such a one as a friend than there is in associating with avowed enemies.

Man can have no greater enemy than one who extends his hand in friendship, and in the atmosphere of goodwill and brotherly love, seeks to destroy in man, his children, and society, faith in God, love of home, national patriotism, respect for constitutional government, and the will to be free.

These basic concepts comprise the bedrock for the foundation of Americanism upon which men have built the greatest republic known to civilization. These are vital and must remain inviolate if our country remains secure. Build to greater heights if you can, renovate and refurbish when and where needed, but count that man a fool or a foe whose objective, be it revealed or concealed, is to damage or destroy any one of them.

It is the humble opinion of this writer that America has no greater need today than the ability to discern between its enemies and its friends. Every patriot should consider it his duty to distinguish one from the other, to the utmost of his ability, and label each according to what he is.

Every American citizen should have definite convictions concerning the affairs of his country, being willing and ready at all times to stand up and boldly declare them. He who is reluctant to do so will appear to be either a knave or a coward—let him be labeled as such.

Not only America, but the entire world is at war, so let it be declared. Let each man put on the uniform that will identify him with the cause he champions. Let the battle lines be drawn! Let there be on one side, those who choose to make one heap of the fruits of their labors, their freedom of will, personal initiative, and mortal destiny, and offer it as a sacrifice on the altar of centralized government, in exchange for the blessings (or curse) of the welfare state.

On the other side, let there be those who cherish for themselves and their posterity personal dignity, freedom of scope, and the right of ownership; who welcome the challenge in the open field of competition, and deplore the shackles of government control; who despise the stigma that accompanies the handout, and understand the price in obedience that must be paid for every dollar received from the tax-supplied coffers of Uncle Sam.

What greater act of immorality can a nation commit than to filch from its people their hard-earned cash and dole it, in part, back to them in exchange for their souls? What greater stupidity can be demonstrated by mortal man than to accept such a thing as a "Fair Deal"—even a bargain?

America has come to the forks of the road. Her destiny will be determined by the one she takes. Leading to the left, is a broad way, paved with indolence, apathy and ease, where the traveler is relieved of his "burden" of finance by tolls and taxation. It winds along the valley of moral decay and spiritual decadence, passing through the lotus gardens of utopian dreams, and on through the disease-infested swamp of socialism, to end at the cemetery of past civilizations ---the graveyard of empires deceased.

To the right is a steep and narrow trail. It is strewn with boulders of adversity and hazards that try men's souls. It appears a foreboding impasse to the weakling and the coward, but to the man of courage and determination, it affords a worthy challenge.

It follows an upward course that traverses the sunlit heights of self-respect and moral integrity, where men grow tall and government sucklings die. It is a rough road but it is the only way known to man by which he must go if he ever hopes to dwell in "The Land of the Free and the Home of the Brave".

He who recommends the left road, though he promises peace, pleasure, and prosperity, in reality extends the black-bordered invitation to delusion, destruction, and death—call him what you will.

But he who points to the right road promises nothing but the hard facts of life which have shown through the ages that he who receives something for nothing is usually a beggar or a thief, and that all rewards must be earned in order to be deserved.

He who knows the truth and declares it will often offend, but he is a better friend and traveling companion than a false guide with deceiving words. C.N. Cosby

McBroom Garage, Expert Service

This week the Canyon News' Inquiring Reporter visited the Business House of O. A. "Boots" McBroom Garage. It is located at 2304 9th Avenue here in Canyon.

"Boots" who lives with his wife, Mary, at 2418 11th ave., has been working in the Automotive repair field for over 20 years. He was with the Lindsay Motor Co. for 7 1/2 years before he started his own business in 1952. Business flourished and in 1957 the McBroom Garage moved into its modern new home. It is probably one of Canyon's largest automotive repair houses.

One of the things that impressed us most was the complete range of equipment used in their shop. It includes a John Beam Bissuliner for front-end alignment work.

McBroom Garage rebuilds motors, transmissions, rear-ends and handles all kinds of heavy and light general repairs. McBroom's Statement "All our work is guaranteed" should show his confidence in the type work done in McBroom Garage. They are open 8 a.m. to 6 p.m. Monday through Fridays and until 1 p.m. on Saturday. Bill Bradshar and Carl Crow fill out the complete crew.

Sandy also is taking Spanish singing and folk dancing lessons.

The students live in the Tech dormitories and are conducted on extensive weekend tours of points of interest in and around Monterrey.

Hales Herd Makes Good

The Holstein-Friesian Association of America has announced a new lactation average for the registered Holstein herd of Richmond Hales of Canyon.

Hales has 44 completed production records averaging 14,530 pounds of milk and 543 pounds of butterfat.

Lactation averages are calculated on the commonly-employed two-milkings a day, 305 day, mature equivalent basis. This provides a uniform basis for comparison and selection in registered Holstein breeding programs.

Texas A. & M. College supervised the weighing and testing of production as part of the official herd testing programs of the national Holstein organization.

Randall County Named For Southern General

Randall County was created from the county of Bexar by an act of the 15th Legislature in 1876. The county was named for General Horace Randall of Texas who attained the rank during the Civil War.

Fulmore's History and Geography of Texas states the following regarding him:

"General Horace Randall was born in Tennessee in 1821. His parents moved to Texas and located in San Augustine county. He was appointed cadet at West Point in 1849; graduated in 1853 and was commissioned Second Lieutenant in the cavalry in the same year. He served in the army of Texas and other frontiers, but resigned in 1861 to offer his services to the Southern Confederacy. He organized a regiment in East Texas and went to the front, commanding in various engagements, first as Colonel, then as Brigadier General, in the Trans-Mississippi department, and was killed at Jenkin's Ferry, otherwise known as the battle of Saline in Arkansas, on the 30th. of April, 1864".

CHANGES IN DISTRICTS

A monument was erected in 1936 by the Centennial Commission sion in honor of General Randall on the highway north of Canyon near the T-Anchor headquarters which is now the College Farm.

The legislature attached Randall to Jack county for judicial surveying and other purposes. Twenty-two counties comprised the district.

In 1879, Randall was attached to Wheeler for judicial purposes.

In 1881, Randall was changed to Oldham county for judicial purposes.

In 1883, judicial jurisdiction was changed to Donley county.

In 1885, the county was switched back to Oldham for judicial purposes.

In 1889, the 47th Judicial District was formed, composed of Potter, Hale and Oldham counties. The unorganized counties of Sherman, Moore and Randall was attached to this district. Randall county has remained in the 47th district since that time.

FIRST POLITICAL CONVENTION

The first political convention held in Randall County was in 1882. A.L. Matlock of Montague, was sent here by the district court to investigate the operations of the T-Anchor ranch. He was a close friend of Jot Gunter and was a candidate for State Senator. Jot wrote to Jule Gunter asking all the boys of the ranch to vote for Matlock. A convention was organized, all of the men favored Matlock, and sent the proxy of the convention to Jot Gunter. Matlock was elected and sponsored the bill to give 3,000,000 acres of Panhandle land to the Capitol Syndicate in exchange for the erection of the State Capitol building in Austin.

June 5, 1889, John Hutson wrote to C.D. Fisher in London, England:

"L.G. Conner, a settler living about two miles south of ranch is locating a town on his section and making endeavors to organize the county and get the county seat there. We are doing everything possible to prevent it, and think we shall succeed, but it will be only a short time before enough legal voters will be here to probably out vote us".

In order to organize the county, a petition was necessary bearing the names of 150 qualified voters. Randall was then attached to Potter county, and the petition was directed to this commissioners court. Under the direction of the late Thomas F. Turner, the cowboys canvassed the county in the quest of signatures. Not having the sufficient number, they camped on the trails and secured the names of all who were passing through the county.

PETITION OF 200

Out of consideration of these people the wording of the petition was changed to read: "We, residents of Texas, now in Randall County."

In a short time the petition bore the names of 200 people. Hutson started in to fight the petition, but on advice of C.C. Slaughter, owner of the Running Water Ranch, allowed organization to proceed.

Slaughter argued that organization was inevitable, and that Hutson would help the interest of his ranch by favoring the movement. A friendly spirit should exist between the settlers and the ranch in order to avoid high taxes against the big ranch interests.

Hutson's report in the range book indicates his feelings in the matter.

He recorded on June 29, 1889, page 300: "Randall County was organized at the Commissioners Court of Potter County of the 25th inst., notwithstanding our opposition. The election of county officials will be held on 27th July".

On July 15, 1889, Hutson recorded: "We are on excellent terms with settlers, and I think we can elect commissioners who will be economical in the matter of taxes, etc.. We dropped all opposition to the matter as soon as we found the determination to allow organization by commissioners of Potter County. This move on our part pleased settlers."

ELECTION IS HELD

The forthcoming election became the main interest of the 45 citizens of the newly organized county.

M.M. McGee, the only man in the county with political experience was unopposed for County Judge.

Sam Wise entered the T-Anchor headquarters one day while the election was being discussed. One of the cowboys asked Wise what office he was running for. His reply was: "Hell, I'm going to run for sheriff". Up to that minute he had not considered the race, but immediately announced and was elected over Joe Govens.

The first officers named July 27, 1889: County Judge, M.M. McGee; County and District Clerk, W.F. Heller; Sheriff and Tax Collector, Sam Wise; Treasurer, Alex George; Assessor, J.W. Atkinson; Commissioner No. 1, W.C. Baird; Commissioner No. 2, F. R. Varner; Commissioner No. 3, Walter Roper; Commissioner No. 4, M.V. Kinney.

Justice of the peace: No. 1, J.W. Turner; No. 2, J.G. Davidson; No. 4, H.R. Morrow.

Constable: No. 1, A. Gage; No. 2, J.W. Hunt; No. 4, T.B. Hinkle; County Surveyor, W.S. Berry.

PICNIC IS HELD

Of the new officers elected, Wise, Baird, George Atkinson, Turner, and Gage were employed on the T-Anchor.

The Range Book of August 3, 1889, records: "Randall County is duly organized, the election of officers have taken place. The commissioners, we think, are a reasonable set of men and not likely to put the county to unnecessary expense."

On August 6, 1889, the citizens of Canyon held a picnic and barbecue in celebration of the newly organized county, and designation of Canyon as the county seat.

The town consisted of L.G. Conner's dugout and a partially completed blacksmith shop belonging to Al Hammond. An open pavilion was constructed for the celebration. The amusements consisted of dances, speeches, and a town raffle of town lots. During the day the commercial advantages of the new county were repeatedly explained to visiting prospective investors.

COURT HOUSE ORDERED

The commissioners court called for bids on the construction of a court house on August 13, 1889. The building was to be a framed house about 50 feet frontage and 45 feet deep set upon a good rock foundation two stories high, according to the records of the Randall County commissioners court, Vol. 1, page 1. The lower story to be divided by a hall running through the center and three rooms formed on each side. The upper floor to be formed into court rooms and jury rooms".

Bids were opened on Sept. 10, 1889, and Joe T. Service was awarded the contract for $8,200.

USE OF COURT HOUSE

Mr. Heller described the use of the new court house as follows:

Mr. Heller organized a Sunday School and secured the use of the building as a meeting place. The morning that he held the first Sunday school, three people were present, Mr. Heller, Miss Roberts, (Mrs. John Knight), and one small child. Miss Roberts had come to assist Mr. Heller in the Sunday School as a teacher.

Mr. Heller went to the court house on Sunday morning, swept the floor and arranged the furniture for the meeting. This was necessary as dances began each Saturday night. As soon as Sunday services were over, the children were hurried home and the dancers resumed their amusement. Some of the cowboys moved to the roof of the court house to dance, but their high heels soon wore through the tin roof and shingles replaced this type of roofing.

The court house had the only assembly room in Canyon, and it was used for all types of gatherings.

FIRST TAX LEVY

The first tax levy was made on Nov. 11, 1889, being 25 cents on the $100 valuation.

The first District Court was convened Dec. 2, 1889, with W.B. Plemons as judge, and L.C. Wilson, attorney. Two indictments of cattle theft cases were returned by the grand jury, but were transferred to Donley county and never tried.

The first minutes of the county court are recorded on May 6, 1890. From the files of the Canyon News.
